

Auditorium: Stage for Scholarly Dialogues and Research Revelations

Nestled in the verdant expanse of Dayananda Sagar College of Arts, Science and Commerce (DSCASC), the Auditorium stands as a grand coliseum of knowledge, where the echoes of groundbreaking ideas resonate long after the applause fades. Affiliated with Bangalore University, this acoustically optimized venue—seating up to 500—doubles as a premier hub for research symposia, thesis defenses, and interdisciplinary conferences, blending theatrical grandeur with cutting-edge functionality to elevate academic pursuits.

The 1,500-square-foot stage, framed by sweeping velvet curtains in deep crimson, commands attention under a constellation of programmable LED spotlights and a massive 10x6-meter HD projection screen for immersive visuals. Tiered plush seating in ergonomic rows ensures comfort during marathon sessions, while the Bose surround-sound system delivers crystal-clear audio from wireless lavalier mics to ceiling-mounted speakers. Integrated ICT marvels include a Crestron control panel for seamless AV switching, live-streaming capabilities via OBS Studio, and green-room tech for virtual participants—perfect for hybrid research panels on global commerce trends or AI ethics.

Vibrant with intellectual fervor, the space comes alive as captured in lively vignettes: packed houses of faculty and students riveted by keynote projections on sustainable finance, or breakout clusters debating econometric models around elevated podiums. Research activities flourish here—from poster sessions lining the foyer walls to interactive workshops with AR overlays on economic simulations. Subtle nods to innovation abound: motivational murals of pioneering economists adorn the lobby, and eco-friendly bamboo accents harmonize with the campus ethos.

Governed by the IQAC for equitable access, the Auditorium upholds UGC benchmarks, fostering inclusive dialogues that spark collaborations. Beyond lectures, it hosts cultural infusions like poetry slams on market dynamics, reminding us that research thrives in spaces where minds meet and sparks fly. At DSCASC, this auditorium isn't merely a venue—it's a catalyst for tomorrow's thought leaders.
