Introducing Subramanya V

Mr. Subramanya V — a dynamic experiential learning strategist and human capital cultivator with over 7 years of rich, cross-sectoral experience. Subramanya is not just an educator; he is a transformation catalyst who blends academic insight, industry relevance, and deep social intelligence into every engagement he undertakes.

A certified soft skills trainer and CSR professional, he has trained thousands of students and professionals through gamified and immersive learning experiences. His impactful work ranges from life skills education and entrepreneurship workshops to CSR-led employability initiatives across educational institutions and NGOs. He's also been instrumental in faculty development, curriculum design, and hybrid pedagogy implementation aligned with NEP and SDG goals.

Subramanya's approach stands out for its creativity — integrating storytelling, roleplay, and real-world simulations to make learning relevant and memorable. Whether as a visiting faculty, former analyst at Ernst & Young, or ISR consultant, his mission remains the same: to inspire, equip, and elevate people through purposeful learning.
